- Suggested Itinerary -

Day 1 - London To Karlsruhe

Leave London St Pancras in the mid-morning and take the Eurostar to Paris, connecting onto a high-speed TGV service to Karlsruhe, just across the German border. Here, check in for an overnight stay at the conveniently located Schlosshotel (or similar). Karlsruhe is an historic city whose beginnings are tied to the huge palace of the same name, built in 1715. Enjoy an evening here exploring, with plenty of time for an evening meal or a visit to one of the city's beer gardens if the weather is fine.

Day 2 - Karlsruhe To Rothenburg Ob Der Tauber

Your ticket to Rothenburg is flexible so you can travel on any train. Why not spend the morning discovering more of historic Karlsruhe? Your train journey takes you via Steinach into the heart of the charming medieval town of Rothenburg. Here, check in at the Hotel Reichs-Kuchenmeister (or similar), right in the historical centre, for a 2-night stay.

Day 3 - Rothenburg

Take time to wander through the charming small lanes and cobbled squares that wind between medieval and renaissance buildings. Visit the stunning Rathaus (Town Hall) with its 60-metre tower, from which you can obtain a panoramic view across the city and surrounding countryside. It's also worth taking a walk along what remains of the medieval city wall. The 1.5 mile walkway offers spectacular city views.

Day 4 - Rothenburg To Nuremberg

Take the train via Steinach and Ansbach through the rolling hills of Bavaria to the historical city of Nuremberg, where you will stay for 3 nights. Check in to the Victoria Hotel (or similar), within easy walking distance of all Nuremberg has to offer. Nuremberg is a historic city in Bavaria, famous for its stunning medieval Old Town and more recently, for the significant part it played both during and immediately after World War II.

Days 5 & 6 - Day Trip Options From Nuremberg

Use your Bayern-Ticket (Bavarian regional railpass) to travel wherever you like in the state of Bavaria. We recommend visits to the walled city of Bamberg (30 minutes), the cultural hub of Bayreuth (50 minutes), or the beautiful medieval city of Regensburg (1 hour). The beauty of these regional tickets is that you don't need to plan in advance. Just go wherever takes your fancy on the day.

Day 7 - Nuremberg To Munich

Take a sleek, modern German ICE train that covers the 105-mile journey from Bavaria's second city to the regional capital in one hour. Check in for 3 nights at the convenient Eurostars Book Hotel (or similar), just a 5-minute walk from the station.

Days 8 & 9 - Munich

You have a full day in Bavarian capital Munich to discover this fascinating city. Perhaps wander around the Old Town area of the city and have a drink in one of the famous brewhouses or pay a visit to one of two imposing Baroque palaces located just outside the city. Science fans will love the Deutsches Museum, the largest science museum in the world, and also one of the oldest. On your second day, enjoy a day trip to Füssen, home of the fairytale castle of Neuschwanstein – the inspiration for Disney's castle. Entrance to the castle is not included, but you can choose to buy tickets when you are there or simply enjoy walking around the castle grounds.

Day 10 - Munich To London

Depart Munich and head north to Frankfurt, where you connect with the international service to Brussels. On arrival, check in for your Eurostar journey back through the Channel Tunnel to the UK. TMR RECOMMENDS: To minimise travel time, you also have the option of flying home from Munich to a London airport (regional airports may be available on request). For a more relaxing journey, why not stop off in Cologne or Frankfurt for a night to break your homeward travel?
